The Next President.

At the annual meeting of Pest D at San Autonie, Mr. George Bartholomale, in a neat speech, stated that the retiring president of the post, Alf Dieckmann, was the man Post D wanted for president of the division, and he moved that a committee be appointed to look after the candidacy of Mr. Dieckmann. This was heartily indorsed by the members and every one present im-mediately constituted himself a commit-tee of one to see that Mr. Dieckmann was elected. The executive committee, whose business it will be to look after the home business it will be to look after the home end of the campaign, is composed of President Cartwright, A. F. Dechman, F. A. Piper and B. F. McNuity.

The San Antonio Express pays Mr. Dieckmann the following compilment:

"Mr. Dieckmann is one of the hardest working members of the association. By the able manner in which he has presided over Post D he has shown himself thoroughly capable of managing the affairs of the division and the members of Post D will do their utmost to land him in the president's chair."

Every one interested is now shaping business to be ready for the strawberry crop, and already the unem-pleyed from distant points are coming in looking for work in the berry patches, but the local supply of labor will largely fill the bill, and it is not best to encourage too much immigration of new labor. The gray summer did not encourage too.

The pear crop hids fair to be immense. The dry summer did not encourage too much growth of new wood and developed the fruit buds until now the orchards are one mass of white. Peaches, plums and all other fruits are full of bloom, and if you wish to see the country with its Sunday clothes on, come during the next two months, and if you den't say that the Creator favored this section then you are a chronic kicker and should confine your farming to cotton growing and plowing a Mexican mule in new ground.

You now hear them taking about plant food—nitrogen, potash, phosphoric acid, etc. Editors refer questions to experiment stations which have been a potent factor in effecting the change. The first station was established in Connecticut in 1875 to anxiety for them, and $1,000,000 expended annually. He would not say that these stations can trych farmers how to make money. Making money is a business capacity of the man. One important branch of the experiment station is the inspection of fertilizers. Modern Agriculture." Conversation among

The likes are of spring water, the springs having been a favorite resort of the Indiana 300 by years ago. Upon the waters will bloom the Victoria Regia of Polynesia and the Lotus of the Nile, and, darting amid the flowers and leaves will be the coot and widgeon, the plover and the heron. Today a flock of wild geete are comfortably enaconeed on the banks, and a pelican from a Louisiana bayou is trying to make his solitary life happy, although he looks pensive and demure. The lakes will bear canons and boats of every description, and the bateau of the ploneer voyager to the luxuriously apointed electric launch intended for the fair denizens of Jekill Island. Another very striking object is the flagstaff, where "Old Glory" floats in the ozone laden air 500 feet above the heads of the crows.

The National Ensign itself is a most beautiful piece of work 20,250 feet, and will be noticed for many miles. A very pleasing novelty is the Gourd Arbor, a long avenue of airy trellis work, supporting a mass of bright green foliage, relieved by the gourds, which hang like golden pendants on a curtain of green velvet. The Rhode Island building is a most imposing structure, and is an honor to the State that erected it, small in size, but great in power and lasating in endurance. And then there is Vanity Fair, which would have afforded food for reflection for the great Thackeray himself. Here will be seen an endless variety of novel attractions; to fact, it would be simost easies to state what will not be found there. It will be an improved adaptation of the Midway Plaisance and Streets of Cairo, with a dash of the Chambs of Elysecs or Poulevards des Italiens and the spice of the Mabile, verything conducted in such a manner that the strict littent and purpose of the exposition as an educator shall be maintained. Then there will be an oile of oddities that will surpass anything that has ever before been attenuied in the South, A ring 200 feet in diameter will be the seens of a variety of performances and public shews; a scenic railway will be another attraction, and there will be the strange abodes of the latest discovered dwellors upon earth, strange animals novel theatrical performances, wired and strange abodes of the latest discovered dwellors upon earth, strange animals novel theatrical performances, wired and strange dances by mysterious dancers.
